To Whom It May Read,

I had the genuine pleasure of teaching Noris Mercedes Martínez Galeas in the Management course at Universidad de San Pedro Sula (USAP) during the January to April 2022 trimester. In my years of teaching, she stands out as a student whose dedication and character left a lasting, positive impression.

From the first class, it was clear that she was there to do more than just meet the requirements. She was an active and engaged participant who brought a sense of purpose to the classroom. I was consistently impressed by her thoughtful questions and her ability to contribute insights that deepened our class discussions. Her assignments were always delivered on time and reflected a strong work ethic and a genuine desire to master the material.

Beyond her academic capabilities, she is a person of outstanding integrity and empathy. She collaborated effectively with her peers on group projects, often naturally stepping into a supportive role to ensure the team's success. Her modesty, reliability, and excellent communication skills make her someone who is not only easy to work with but also a trusted member of any group.

I am confident that Noris Mercedes Martínez Galeas possesses the self-awareness, drive, and intellectual curiosity to excel in any challenging environment. She is precisely the kind of person I am happy to recommend, and I have no doubt she will be a valuable asset to any academic institution or professional team she joins.

I am certain she will have great success in her future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Manuel Discua
